

TELCO PRODUCTIONS, INC.

Dear Station,

Pursuant to the Children's Television Act of 1990, "SO YOU WANT TO BE" will satisfy the FCC Children's programming requirement and can be classified as either core or non-core programming. "SO YOU WANT TO BE" serves the educational and informational needs of children 13 to 16 years of age with its program content, including the importance of learning about various occupations and professions in today's workforce. The series gives teenagers an up-close look at different jobs, including spending a day as a hands-on observer with an expert in a particular field.

"SO YOU WANT TO BE" as delivered is formatted to allow for no more than 14 minutes of total commercial time per broadcast hour (7 minutes per half-hour). "SO YOU WANT TO BE" does not display any Internet web site address or host selling during or adjacent to the program, and is otherwise in compliance with Sections 73.670(a) through (d) of the Commission's Rules.

To facilitate your FCC filings, episode synopses are available on line at our website, www.telcoproductions.com. Also available on-line are testimonials from our educational advisory review board, consisting of educators and other professionals who have reviewed the series (see the following letters for details).

If you have any other questions, please don't hesitate to contact us.

Sincerely,

Dear Alex,

I have reviewed several episodes of the program "SO YOU WANT TO BE" and find that it meets the educational and informational needs of children 13 to 16 years of age with its program content. The series exposes teenagers to the varied workforce professions that they might like to enter in the future. Each episode features teens becoming "apprentices" for a day in different jobs, learning what it takes to be, for example, a baker, a dolphin trainer, a dental hygienist or professional photographer. Young viewers learn about the differences in various occupations, as well as learning what aspects of jobs they most enjoy.

Programs such as "SO YOU WANT TO BE" are a valuable way to expand a teenage viewer's knowledge of the future that awaits them and will assist them with making academic decisions.

Sincerely,

RE: So You Want To Be

Dear Alex,

I have reviewed the series "So You Want To Be" and I believe it's educational and informational value meets FCC requirements for children's programming aged 13-16 years old. As a teaching professor at UCLA, I consider this series vital to a young person's decision-making for the future. "So You Want To Be" reveals information about various occupations for teen viewers, while allowing them to explore the different aspects of a wide assortment of professions. "So You Want To Be" also serves as an important educational tool to help our teens make academic decisions. Each episode is an informative tour of an occupation—whether it be a veterinarian or a chef—and young viewer's gain a unique insight into a job they rarely get from the outside.

I applaud stations that air this series.

Sincerely yours,

Bahram Jalali
