Dear Alex,

I have reviewed episodes of the program "WILD WORLD at the San Diego Zoo" and I am confident that it meets the educational and informational needs of children 13 to 16 years of age with its program content. The series explores the lives of various zoo animals and examines their care and living environment while providing important information about how they survive in the world.

In each episode, a detailed explanation of an animal species is provided as well as information on the animal's daily nutrition and other living habits. For example, one episode focuses on medical care and check-ups of several animals and what the differences are for each critter.

Another episode explores the unique characteristics of Chameleons, while another episode examines the behavioral aspects of several unique species such as Crowned Cranes, Dunny Beetles and Leafcutter Ants, giving specific details of the life cycles of each species.

It is my opinion that "WILD WORLD at the San Diego Zoo" is educational and informative and conforms to the FCC Kids programming regulations.

Sincerely,

Sister Mary Elizabeth Galt, B.V.M., Chancellor

Dear Alex,

I have reviewed several episodes of the program "WILD WORLD" and I am confident that it meets the educational and informational needs of children 13 to 16 years of age with its program content. The series opens up the world of wild animals to teenage viewers with up-close visits of these critters, while providing important information by experts from the San Diego Zoo. Episodes include looking at the life of different exotic animals, such as Armadillos, Klipspringers and Takins. Teenage viewers learn about the living habits of these various critters and why some may be on their way to extinction.

Viewers also examine the unique care the zoo staff provides for these various wild animals, while learning about the daily work routines of keepers looking after such a wide variety of critters. Each episode is a separate collection of wild animals, exploring interesting and vital facts of such species as Blue-tongued Skinks, Tawny Frogmouths and Kawai Forest birds.

"WILD WORLD" is educational, informative and entertaining, while providing unique up-close televised visits of wild and exotic creatures and teaching viewers all about life in the animal kingdom.

Sincerely,
